

Musical cones

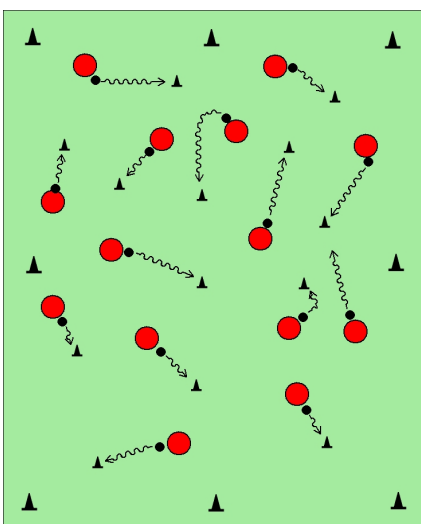

How it works

Players have a ball each and dribble around the playing area keeping control of the ball. There must be more small cones spread around the area than there are players.

On a signal from the coach, players must dribble their ball to a cone inside the playing area, stop the ball under their foot and pick up a cone to place on top of their head.

Play a few rounds and then start to remove a cone each time until there is one or more fewer cones than players. At this point the last player left without a cone is out.

Continue removing cones until you are left with a winner.

If players try to stay dribbling around a cone then they can be warned at first but then removed from the game.

If you have a portable CD player then it makes the game a lot more fun, with players dribbling for the cones when the music stops.
