

Attack of the cones 2

How it works

Two players in each team start at opposite corners of the grid as shown in the diagram.

The red player starts dribbling the ball into the grid and the yellow player moves out as a defender.

The other two players must stay by their cone.

The red player must try to attack the opposite cone by getting past the player and passing the ball to their teammate. This player must control the ball and stop it next to the cone to score a point for their team.

The two players then go back to the ends where they started and this red player then has to get the ball to their partner in the opposite corner.

If the ball goes outside the grid through a loss of control or an attempted tackle then both players return to their corners and one of the yellow players starts with the ball.

If the yellow player wins possession of the ball within the grid then they can immediately attack the opposite cone without having to go back to their corner.

Play for 5/10 minutes and then put teams who scored the most/least points against each other.
