

Spongebob to the rescue

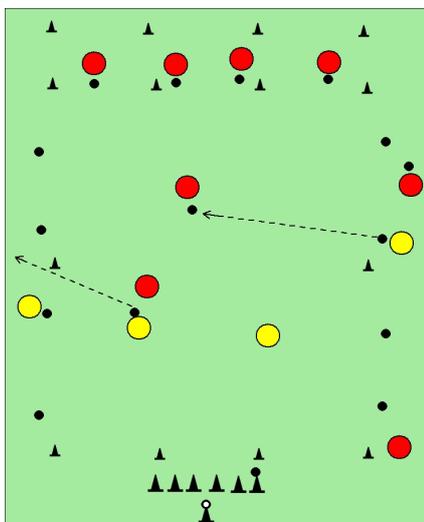

How it works

The red players are Plankton's army who are trying to steal the recipe for Krabby's patties which is locked in a safe. The line of cones represent the safe and the ball behind them represents the recipe itself.

The yellow players in the middle are Mr. Krabs and Squidward, whilst the two helping them from the edge are Spongebob and Patrick

The red team have to try and dribble to the far end of the playing area, without being tackled, to place a ball on top of a cone (safe). They must leave that ball and return to the start.

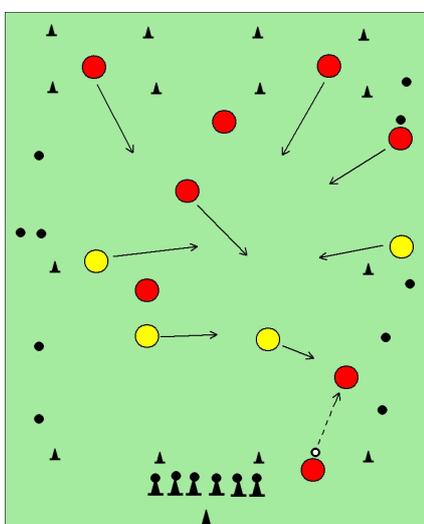

The yellow players must try to stop them by tackling them on the way across and kicking their ball out of play. If this happens the red player has to fetch their ball and go back to the start.

The yellow players at the side (Spongebob and Patrick) are also able to help by passing a ball to hit the ball being dribbled by a red player.

When 3/4 red players are ready at the start line the coach can make a signal for them to begin dribbling up the playing area.

The aim for the red players is to get a ball on top of each cone to crack the safe.

When this happens all the red players are allowed into the playing area to help get the ball (recipe) safely back to Plankton at the start by passing to each other and keeping possession.

All the yellow players are also able to enter the playing area at this time and must try and tackle or intercept the ball to kick it back to the safe. Will the recipe be saved or will Plankton get his hands on it?

Change the roles of players and play again to see if this time it can be saved or rescued.

Possible changes

The red team must make at least five passes before the ball (recipe) can be taken back over the start line.
