

Three cone game

How it works

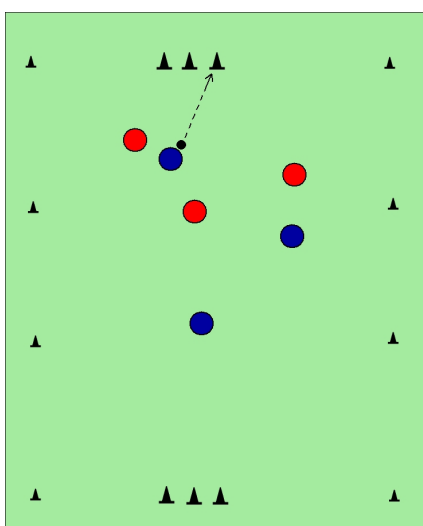

Play 3 v 3 with normal game rules - no players can use their hands.

Blue players try to dribble/pass the ball between them to advance up the field of play.

Red players defend the cones at their end of the playing area.

Blue players continue to attack as they have possession of the ball.

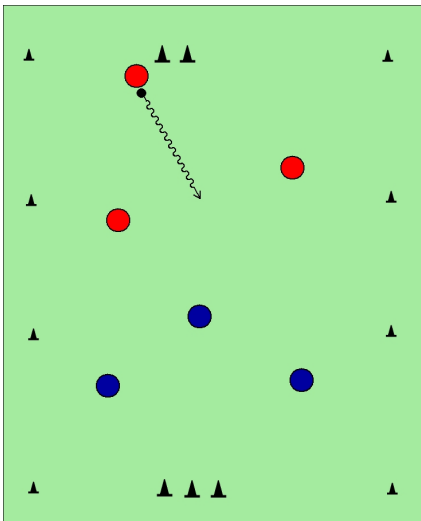

Blue players can score by knocking down one of the cones.

This cone must then stay down, so next time the blue team tries to score they only have two cones to aim at.

Large area - game

Red team now gets possession of the ball and the blue team must retreat into their own half to give the red players a chance to get going.

Red team now tries to score against the blue team by knocking down one of their cones.

Possible changes
Can play 4 v 4.

A small semi-circular cone exclusion area may need to be set up around the cone goals if players persist in standing right in front of the cone(s) when defending.
